Circus Maximus Takes Marion By Storm

The Show Goes On -- Despite Hurricane Edouardo

By Dionne F. Richmond

A half hour before show time, the improv group Circus Maximus quickly went over last minute details on stage at the Marion Art Center, like tuning their guitar and practicing on the piano and singing as well as reviewing their line-up for the night which was taped down to the stage floor.

The improv group, made up of players James Waterston of Mattapoisett and New York, and his friends Mike Handelman and David Guion, even claim to take responsibility for lining up the chairs before the show starts. On Sunday night, their last performance of the weekend, they take a few minutes to talk with the "Wanderer" about what the group has been doing in the past year since their last performance in Marion.

When asked what they are thinking about before their performance, Mike Handelman said on this particular night he was wondering if the hurricane was going to kill him.

All kidding aside, he said improv really isn't the kind of thing you can prepare for since they must invent scenes, songs, and stories based on suggestions from the audience. Everything is spur of the moment, and they must think fast on their feet. Each performance is original and unique, as the players and the audience discover new worlds and situations, limited only by their combined imaginations.

"We try to stay focused and pay attention to each other and make sure various instruments are tuned," he said.

James said they usually like to stay "well-fed and well-rested" before each show. "It's very hard to achieve," he admitted. The group has been performing improv comedy for over seven years together. James said the group has had the opportunity to work together for about four or five months at a time which has helped them a lot. "It's helped me understand the relationship I have with them," he said. The three of them seem to thrive off one another's energy, with quick-witted responses and playful banter.

Coming back to perform in Marion was not a hard decision to make. "The audience is always fantastic," said Mike. They admit the group has become more well-known over the past year, but said fame hasn't changed who they really are. "It hasn't affected us one bit. We're still the same person," said David Guion. "We're weirder and more jaded," joked James.

"Other than that we're the same as before," added David. "It's the same jokes, the same weak endings and slow starts," James said kiddingly. "We'll never get too big for Marion," added Mike.

The three then discussed some of their squabbles, which included an incident when one of their ears almost got torn off with a slymbal recently. Then they finished getting ready for their performance before the show began. About 80 people crammed into the Marion Art Center despite the strong gusty wind and heavy rain outside. Circus Maximus thanked everyone for braving the storm and then told them to run out the door in case of emergencies.

First, they get the audience to understand where they are coming from and try to get them involved in the show. They divided the audience in half, with one side repeating, "There's no place like home," and the other side chanting, "I'll get you my pretty, and your little dog too." Then the audience was told if during an improv scene, the group hesitated or used the word "and" the audience could shout the word "die" and the next player was in the spotlight.

On The Cover: David Guion, James Waterston and Mike Handelman are the players of Circus Maximus, an improvisational comedy group named for the ancient Roman Amphitheater at which charioteers risked death to win glory. Each Circus Maximus show is entirely improvisational—there are no scripts, no costumes and no props. Each performance explores new territory, to surprise both the audience and the players.

They asked the audience for a time in U.S. history, and one audience member shouted out during the Civil War. Mike ended up holding up his hand under his shirt (his Siamese brother) who he eventually shot because they were on opposite sides of the war.

They then asked for a sentence from an audience member on which they based their whole scene. "What are you doing in a place like this?" The place ended up being an eel factory, which was going out of business until one of the players suggested blowing up the eel skins as balloons.

There was also a presidential debate between a fisherman and a dentist which proved to be quite interesting. The group also reenacted the death of Abraham Lincoln in a most peculiar way (Abraham Lincoln played by Mike, shot himself accidentally while trying to kill the actor he was watching). Circus Maximus also acted out Bob Dole's acceptance speech at the request of one audience member. Clutching his chest, James began the speech while Mike and David held up an imaginary oxygen mask over his face and shocked him with pretend paddles. This scene was repeated in several different genres including western, science fiction, and Shakespearean – each was equally funny. The players each came up with wacky scenes, surprising the audience with their spontaneity and quick thinking. Whether they were melting each other's minds, pulling parrots out of each other's noses or singing the blues about toothaches, Circus Maximus kept the audience in stitches.

England storm that almost was ... or a storm that really wasn't. After a weekend filled with stern warnings from newspaper, radio, and television reports, Hurricane Edouard merely brushed past southeastern Massachusetts Monday, barely making a scratch. The only things that suffered, perhaps, were a few planned cookouts and family outings.

With memories of the recent Hurricane Bob and the not-too-distant Hurricane Gloria still in their minds, however, area residents braced for the worst and scurried to supermarkets in search of the always-depleted supplies of milk and bread, inventoried their collections of candles and flashlights, and scrambled to get their boats either secured to their moorings, or removed from the water altogether.

In Marion, Harbormaster George Jennings worked in tandem with local boat yards to facilitate the removing of most of the boats from Sippican Harbor as early as Saturday morning. "I think the boat yards did a super job," Mr. Jennings said Tuesday. "We normally have about 680 boats in (Sippican) Harbor ... and someone counted them on Monday and there were only 180. That means they managed to get 600 boats out of the water over the weekend."

Mr. Jennings praised Barden's Boatyard, Burr Brothers Boatyard, and A & J Boats for their assistance with this monumental task. He noted that many other pleasure boaters took the early warnings seriously, and sailed to safer harbors for the Labor Day weekend. "It made it a lot better not having (the harbor) crowded," he said. "There were no major accidents or problems."

Like Marion, one of the biggest concerns in Mattapoisett was the potential for destruction along the water — especially for private boat owners. But Mattapoisett Selectman John N. DeCosta said the town really pulled together to avoid any possible catastrophes.

"I think the town of Mattapoisett was very fortunate. God must have been with us," he said Tuesday. "We were able to get most of the boats out early ... and I want to thank all the departments in town and all the volunteers who helped to get things done."

Selectman DeCosta estimated some 150 to 200 boats were pulled from Mattapoisett Harbor late Saturday and early Sunday. Extra effort was also put into securing both the Ned's Point and Town Wharf areas — with special attention placed on the town's beloved gazebo at Shipyard Park, which shifted a few inches in the gusting winds of Hurricane Bob in 1991.

"We even had (resident) Bruce Rocha and some of his men reinforce the gazebo and brace it in place," Selectman DeCosta said.

power outages, most Mattapoisett residents escaped unscathed from the storm. "We had a couple of cars which were damaged by falling trees ... but other than that there was nothing serious," Selectman DeCosta said. "We had (Old Rochester Regional) High School opened as an Emergency Shelter ... and we had a family from New Bedford stay there overnight. The Red Cross was also on hand with food and provisions."

Acushnet Police Chief Michael Poitras echoed a sense of relief that Edouard wasn't as devastating as it could have been. "I would say that the storm was certainly anti-climactic," he said. "We had a few tree limbs down ... and a few power outages due to downed lines. Other than that, things were pretty good."

Chief Poitras noted the only potential danger in a storm like Edouard is the resulting debris which collects in the streets due to heavy winds. "People don't often think about the leaves and pine needles which can create a (slippery) situation," he said. "That's certainly a concern for motorists."

But like all the towns in the area, Acushnet seemed to fare well during the threat of Hurricane Edouard. Chief Poitras said they held a meeting early Tuesday morning to evaluate the various town departments' performance during the storm, and the only setback was getting the word out to residents during the busy holiday weekend. "It was hard to reach the media ... so (the Police Department) was inundated with calls," he said. "We wanted to make people aware of the Emergency Shelter Locations if needed."

opposite the Police Department.

"Life is good," said a relieved Fairhaven Police Chief Edward Silva Tuesday morning. "I know there were some downed branches here and there, but even Sciticut Neck Road — which usually gets flooded — was fine."

And you know the storm really didn't have any teeth when reports from rural Rochester are good. With a dense concentration of trees which line all the major roads in town — and sway dangerously close to utility lines — there's always the potential for major problems during high winds. But this time, Rochester was spared.

"We did have a few trees down, but really no major incidents at all," said Rochester Police Sgt. James Wassmouth. "We really didn't get hit more than any other town on the south shore."

Sgt. Wassmouth noted that the town had prepared for the hurricane by placing additional people on duty in anticipation of any problems which Hurricane Edouard might cause. "Luckily, we didn't roll into any," he said.

Chairman Chris Jaskolka to discuss the formation of a Master Plan Study Committee. Chairman DeCosta presented Mr. Jaskolka with a list of some 40 names of residents who have expressed interest in serving on the committee thus far. According to Mr. Jaskolka, the Planning Board was slated to review this matter at their meeting later that evening.

"We'll be sending a letter to each person and ask them for their first, second, and third choice of component on the committee," Mr. Jaskolka said. "Then we'll make the appointments at our next meeting."

Mr. Jaskolka also asked the Selectmen about funding for mailing and the possibility of purchasing a computer for the Planning Board. Chairman DeCosta noted that computer purchases must be authorized by the Board of Selectmen, and he encouraged Mr. Jaskolka to submit a request to them for a computer and they would approach the Finance Committee about available funding.

Chairman DeCosta next wished to publicly thank all town departments and employees for assisting with preparing for the threat of Hurricane Edouard over the Labor Day weekend. He was pleased that all departments worked so well together to get boats safely out of the water and take precautions against the storm.

After approving the minutes of the August 27 meeting and signing the vouchers, bills, licenses, permits and correspondence for the week, Chairman DeCosta read and approved a proclamation declaring the week of September 17 through September 23 as "Constitution Week" in Mattapoisett.

Under incoming correspondence for the week, the board received a copy of a letter to Building Inspector Andrew J. Bobola from Ann G. Leibowitz regarding the numbering of her home on Brandt Island Shores. Apparently, Mr. Bobola had sent notification to Ms. Leibowitz requesting that the house numbering be moved to a more visible location outside of her home.

Peter B. Hodges, Chairman of the Mattapoissett School Committee, next sent notification to the board that a vacancy now exists on his committee in the wake of Lisa R. Durr's recent resignation. As such, Ms. Adams advised that the board will be seeking applicants to fill out Ms. Durr's term until the next annual town election.

Those interested should send a resume and a letter of interest to the Board of Selectmen, c/o

AN OFFER SELLER CAN'T REFUSE

Most people assume that the highest bidder will always get the nod from a home seller, but in many situations this is not the case. The highest bidder does not always win. A smart seller will often accept a lower offer from someone who is certain to qualify for a mortgage rather than worry about a financially shaky buyer who might not even qualify for a loan to consummate the sale.

If the market is one where homes don't stay available for even a short time at the asking price, the buyer might want to make the offer one that will be hard to refuse. For example, sellers are very impressed if you can strike the finance contingency from the contract. (This is the clause that releases the buyer from the contract without losing the deposit if he can not qualify for a mortgage.) However, do not even CONSIDER scratching the mortgage contingency clause unless you have the cash on hand to complete the transaction.

Call Bruce today with any of your Real Estate questions or needs. We're here to help!! 758-6738.

Vic and JoAnne Demski next submitted a letter to the board expressing their objection to the Building Inspector's opposition of a filed Board of Appeals decision. "The Mattapoisett Board of Appeals made it their decision to grant a variance on the property of David and Susan Todd," the letter reads. "The action taken by the Building Inspector is without precedent and would generate an unknown tax burden to the town."

Selectman Bernier noted that this was the third such letter they had received, and she suggested the board notify the residents that Building Inspector Andy Bobola is not acting out of turn — in fact, it is common for Building Inspectors in other towns to challenge Board of Appeals decisions.

"It may not be common in Mattapoisett, but this is (Mr.) Bobola's only option," Selectman Bernier said.

Under incoming correspondence, the board also received:

- Notice that the Joint Transportation Planning Group will hold a meeting on Wednesday, September 11 at Wings at the Airport in New Bedford at 1:00 pm.

- Notice that the Massachusetts Municipal Association is sponsoring its Annual Fall Workshop for Selectmen on Saturday, October 5 at the Westborough Marriott from 7:45 am to 4:00 pm.

Under the Executive Secretary's report, Ms. Adams reminded the board that the Apple-Peach Festival Parade in Acushnet will take place on Sunday, September 8 beginning at 10:00 am. The board members need to arrive by 9:00 am to participate in the parade.

Ms. Adams also advised that the Tree Warden informed her that the town will be picking up debris from Hurricane Edouard which was blown onto town roads and/or from town trees only this week. They will not, however, pick up any debris or damaged trees from private property. Such material will be accepted at the dump, as with any other yard waste.

Ms. Adams informed the board that Fire Chief

Ronald Scott advised her Sunday night that he was concerned about boats which were removed from Ringuette's Boatyard at the end of Brandt Island over the weekend and placed along Gary Drive to wait out Hurricane Edouard. According to Ms. Adams, the boats were moved to Gary Drive and placed along the circular roadway, creating a potential safety hazard and impeding emergency vehicles from passing.

"We received several complaints from residents ... and I was told by a second party that Mr. Ringuette had been given permission to put the boats there by Police Chief (James Moran)," she said.

"Maybe we need to address this at our next annual hurricane meeting."

Later that evening, Rick and Joanne Cote of Gary Drive came before the board to voice their strong opposition to this practice. "I don't know whose authority this came from, but I was told the Town of Mattapoisett authorized (moving the boats to Gary Drive)," Mr. Cote said. "It's never been done before,

Mr. Cote — who works for Com/Electric — said he was concerned about leaving his family during the course of the storm knowing that these large boats might topple over or blow onto his property. "If we had been hit as hard as they predicted, there would have been quite a mess down there," he said.

The board agreed that this was certainly not a safe procedure and they told Mr. Cote they would schedule a follow-up Hurricane Evaluation meeting within the month to discuss this matter further. The board asked that any concerned residents attend,

At 7:35 pm Clayton Hagy of the Coast Guard Auxiliary came before the board to present resident Paula Cobb with a commendation for her recent volunteer work at the Ned's Point Lighthouse. According to Mr. Hagy, Ms. Cobb was one of the first visitors to the lighthouse when it was opened for public tours, and she has since been a valuable volunteer.

Ms. Cobb — whose great grandfather was the lighthouse keeper from 1914 to 1917 — offered to repaint the lettering outside of the lighthouse entrance and Mr. Hagy wanted to publicly commend her for her "fine work." Ms. Cobb was presented with a proclamation from Mr. Hagy and was congratulated by the Board of Selectmen for her work.

treasury warrant and unanimously approved the minutes of the August 20 meeting. Chairman Dickerson also took a moment to comment on Hurricane Edourd and its effects on Marion. He suggested that the town send out thank you letters to the department heads of the Emergency Medical Service (EMS), Police, Fire, and Highway Departments, as well as the Harbormaster, the local shelter, the Marion General Store (for remaining open on Sunday), and Sippican Long Term Care Center who took in three bed-ridden people.

At 7:10 pm the Board met with Mr. and Ms. William Doherty and G. Ronald Winters regarding trees at 102 Main Street. Selectmen Winters excused himself from the discussion because he lives in the area being discussed and did not want any conflicts to occur. Since Selectmen Loretta B. Schaefer was not present for the meeting, Selectman Dickerson agreed to transfer the information to her, but could not make any decisions on his own.

According to Mr. Doherty there are two trees located on his property that are infested with ants and the limbs are a danger to his property. In the past, tree limbs have fallen on his property and ruined his fence. Mr. Doherty said the trees were in "bad shape." At this point Mr. G. Ronald Winters said that in his opinion "one of the trees needs attention ... the one on the east side may need some attention due to ants." Both parties were willing to work together as well as with the town to rectify this problem. Chairman Dickerson finally asked Mr. Winters to look at the trees and to give the board his opinion by September 13.

Elizabeth Taber Library. Ms. Wardle also mentioned that joining the Southeastern Massachusetts Library Systems (SEAL) is a benefit to the community. The system "permits our library to utilize ... all libraries in our region." It also "saves us money and allows the town to serve more people."

Mr. Richard Poulsen sent a letter requesting the approval for cars "to be parked on Converse Road for approximately six hours" on September 28 for a wedding. The letter also informed the board that there would be a police detail on that day to "ensure the parking is orderly and off the road as much as possible." Considering there will be a police detail, the board had no objections to this arrangement and the request was unanimously approved.

The town received a memo regarding the State Fiscal Year 1996 Budget which has allocated $25 million to cities and towns across the commonwealth for construction and reconstruction of local roads. Of this so-called Chapter 90 money, Marion will receive $18,080.00. The board agreed that whether or not Wareham and Rochester decide to repair County Road, the Town of Marion will pursue this project.

Lastly, Mr. Ronald P. Thibodeau sent a letter to the board informing them that he is retiring from his position with NYNEX/New England Telephone. The board agreed to send him a letter of thanks for "bend(ing) over backwards" for the town.

The board had a few other issues to discuss, beginning with the idea of a bike path through Marion, Mattapoisett and Fairhaven. Two years ago $18,000 dollars was given to the town for a bike path study through Old New York Central Railroad.

Chairman Dickerson said the bike path is a "golden opportunity" to join hands with Fairhaven and Mattapoisett and he would hate to see a bike path built, only to stop at North Street in Mattapoisett. Selectman Winters pointed out that the bike path would be a wonderful addition to the town — but it also could turn into a costly one. The path would need to be patrolled, maintained and secured. Chairman Dickerson explained to Selectman Winters that he just feels the project should move forward, and the next action should be taken.

Executive Secretary Ray Pickles mentioned at this point that public access to this path was going to be a problem considering that there is no public access from Front Street. Evidently the owner of the property has no intention of opening the property to the public. It was suggested that Benson Brook Road could be used for an access. The board finally decided to hold off on moving ahead with the project until the next meeting on September 10 when State Rep. Bill Straus would be in attendance to discuss the issue. The board also asked that a member of the Planning Board attend as well.

Next up for discussion was the town's leash law. During the discussion it was agreed that two components should be passed at the next Town Meeting. First is the by-law and second is the funding and financing of the law. If residents do not pass both components, then the town will use the funds already available in the budget.

Lastly for discussion was the issue of recycling. The town had asked Acushnet and Rochester to join in a regional recycling effort. Acushnet did not give a definite answer, but officials didn't seem interested in the proposal. Both Marion and Rochester, however, are going to continue to pursue with regional recycling. The towns received trucks from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) that are currently being repainted and touched up for town use. Marion and Rochester will recycle on different days so that the trucks can act as back-ups for the other town.

A final announcement was made before adjourning regarding the Town of Marion's first Surplus Sale, which will be held on October 5. Surplus supplies from the Town Hall, the Taber Library, the Sippican School, and the Police and Fire Stations will be for sale. A list of items is required to be in by September 24 in order to declare them surplus.

With no further matters to come before the board, they unanimously voted to adjourn for the evening at 8:03 pm.

Rochester Selectmen's Meeting

September 3, 1996

By Dionne F. Richmond

A regular meeting of the Rochester Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, September 3, at 7:00 pm by Chairman Lorraine Roy Hawkes. Also present were Selectman Richard D. Cutler, Selectman William Chamberlain and Secretary Veronica Lafreniere.

Shortly after approving the minutes of the August 26th and 28th meetings, an earth removal permit was held for the Rochester Environmental Park. The Board met with Mr. Gallo who said he needed to get topsoil and stumps off the site on Cranberry Highway. Chairman Hawkes said she wasn't sure if the earth removal by-law would allow them to remove top-soil off the site.

Mr. Gallo explained that the whole intent of the project is to use the top soil as fill. He said they have too much top soil, stumps and screened dirt. "We'd like permission to carry that off the site." He said it would take about two weeks to complete the removal of the top soil and he hopes to file for building permits by this Friday, or by the middle of next week. The Board will also require Mr. Gallo to get a bond for the 1,500 cubic yards he intends to remove and for the 240 cubic yards he already removed prior to the cease and desist order. The Board continued the hearing until next week.

At 7:15 a pole hearing was held to extend the existing services on Hiller Road. There being no

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

My cat cries for food and then when I open a new can, she sniffs it and walks away. She drives me crazy, what can I do?

Cats that eat canned food develop finicky eating habits and produce much more tartar on their teeth than cats that eat dry food alone. Make the dry food available and try phasing out the canned food over a few weeks.

I'm afraid that my male cat will develop a urinary obstruction if I feed him dry food. Are there any dry foods that are safe for male cats?

Generally speaking, premium cat foods such as Iams and Science Diet are excellent dry cat foods that are readily devoured by most cats. There are also a number of urinary formula cat foods that are sold in grocery stores that may help prevent urinary obstructions.

abutters present, Selectmen unanimously approved the addition of three poles to the area.

Selectmen then met with former Selectman Harry Brown who informed them of the status of the BBAC, which he has served on since 1990. He credited the BBAC for getting various projects done in town and in area communities, including getting grant money for a septic tracking computer system, oil spill booms, and many other projects worth about $40,000 to Rochester. Since funding is decreasing, the position of Executive Director will probably be eliminated he said. The group will discuss if they can continue without a knowledgeable leader, who writes grants and reviews sites. Mr. Dennis Luttrell has served in this position and has been asked to serve on a per on call basis through September. Mr. Brown asked the Board if they wanted him to continue serving on the BBAC. They will discuss the situation with the Health Agent and Conservation Agent to ask their feelings on the matter but said he obviously shouldn't have to serve on a committee that no longer was in existence.

The Board then met with Jayne Paronich, who came before them with a signed petition to be added to the Special Town Meeting Warrant, requesting that all outboard internal combustion engines (namely jet skis) be prohibited from Snipatuit Pond. She said a shallow lake could not support such activity. Chairman Hawkes agreed listening to jet skis was aggravating.

The Board told Ms. Paronich she needed to be present at the meeting to back up her request and asked her to contact the Herring Inspector as well for his input on the situation. Selectman Chamberlain said all vehicles were prohibited from Mary's Pond without exception. Selectmen then wondered if they could add this request to the town warrant since it is state property. They will contact the Fishing/Game Commission to find out if it's in their jurisdiction to prohibit the jet skis.

At 7:30 pm the Board met with Naida Parker, who requested the use of the Conference Room on September 16th at 8:00 pm to prepare for the state primaries. Selectmen unanimously granted her this request.

At 7:45 the Board met with Tony Sivera of Walnut Plain Road who came before them with a zoning violation complaint against his neighbor, Mr. St. John, who he said is conducting a business on his property. Selectman Chamberlain said Mr. St. John was given permission to store valuable welding equipment on his property, but not to run a welding business there. Mr. Sivera said his neighbor has been doing work on a consistent basis since the storage building was added in July. He said the work has been doing on daily, including weekends. Since the building is about 100 feet from Mr. Sivera's property line, he said he is disturbed by the racket made each day.

Selectmen will send a certified letter to him notifying him of the complaint and will ask him to appear before the board since there is no zoning enforcement officer until the end of the month. "It's my feeling, as a neighbor, I shouldn't have to put up with this. I think the warning was issued when the building went up," said Mr. Sivera. The board said they would take the first step by issuing the letter and asking Mr. St. John to visit them next week.

Under incoming correspondence for the week the board received:

The money may be divided up between different organizations. The Board will also send a letter thanking them for their generous donation.

• A memo from Town Accountant Claudette Couto who informed the Board that she received a bill for $1,6400 for care of Veterans graves from the Rochester Center Cemetery. Selectmen unanimously approved the $200 increase to the line item.

• Another memo from the Town Accountant informing the board that article 3 needs to be increased an amount based on 30 percent of what is projected for the police officers salary for the new contract for the cops grant-Plymouth County Retirement. Chairman Hawkes said upon further conversation with the town accountant, the total amount is $1,000 plus $100 for life insurance. Selectman Cutler made a motion to add these as two separate line items to cover both cops grants.

• A proposed article to see if the town will authorize the Board of Selectmen to transfer care, custody, and control of a portion of the town owned lots on Dexter Lane, to the Council on Aging, such portion to be determined by the Board of Selectmen, for the purpose of constructing a senior center.

Selectman Chamberlain objected to this article "in principle." He asked why Rochester didn't have control of the property. The motion passed via majority vote; Selectman Chamberlain opposed the motion.

The Board then interviewed two candidates for the Rochester Police Department. These candidates were appointed as reserve police officers until all of the paperwork for the cops grant is received. Selectmen will appoint them as full-time officers as soon as all of the paperwork for both grants is in.

There being no further business for the Board to discuss, they voted to adjourn at 9:10 pm.

Harbormaster Steve Mach presented plans for a proposed marina to be located to the west and perpendicular to the existing Mello Wharf at the Town Landing. The project provides a 140 foot pier with spaces for 11 large power boats dinghy float and walkway on the north side of the new pier. Coast Line Engineering has been retained by the Town to do the required engineering.

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection, Waterways Department, has requested abutters to comment on the project prior to issuing the required license for construction. The Mattapoisett Land Trust owns and makes available for public use the property which is one of the few pieces left allowing waterfront access to all, and the view of the harbor from Water Street would be affected by the proposed marina project.

The Directors of the Mattapoisett Land Trust feel this significant change in the waterfront should

No Doubt

*Let there be no doubt when you see me stumble and fall...
One day, I will walk, stand up,
proud and tall*

*Let there be no doubt, when you hear me talk in jibber...
My voice will be sweet music,
one day when I get bigger*

Let there be no doubt, this dirty face you see... one day will shine like diamonds, the way it's meant to be

*Let there be no doubt, those scribbles on the wall...
One day will sell for millions, and hang in someone's hall*

Let there be no doubt I learn through how I play... to climb, to read, to dance a lot, a very fun filled day

Let there be no doubt, I learn from what I see... to hug, to smile, to giggle, the things that make me ... ME.

This Week's Horoscope

by Linda Black

Weekly Tip: Practice your oratory or dramatic skills, even if it's scary.

Aries (March 21-April 19). There's lots of work for you. Take careful notes — details matter. A new game is a bit of a challenge, but you'll do fine.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). Get your living quarters squared away. You'll have a lot of reading and writing to do, so stick pretty close to home.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). You'll easily impress your friends with your brilliance. You could attract new romance with your cheerful attitude.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). Get something you need for yourself, but save enough for a date. Review your notes and get organized. Adapt to changes.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Take care of unfinished business — you'll have more time to play with your favorite friend later. Get to know your neighbors.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll have more autonomy and authority. Go over your work carefully — bugs could creep in. Go shopping.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Don't feel overwhelmed for long — get organized instead. Don't believe everything you hear — a rumor is in error.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Put your team together and face a difficult problem together. Play later, you have work to do.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Supervisors expect perfection, but even they will make mistakes. Relax with friends. The party will last through the weekend.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Pay fees. If you need more money, get a job or apply for a loan. Patch up a misunderstanding and rearrange your schedule.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You'll win the competition using an old trick. Apply for a loan. Shop carefully or you'll get something you don't even need.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20). Hurry to keep up with work. A partner can help you get organized. There'll be complications — pay attention to the details.

If You're Having a Birthday This Week: Finish old business and you'll get what was promised. Private decisions and commitments shift your life's direction.

MOVIES & ENTERTAINMENT

Spitfire Grill serves leftover sentiment despite fresh star

BY ROB GONSALVES

• The Spitfire Grill. Starring Alison Elliott, Ellen Burstyn, and Marcia Gay Harden. Directed by Lee David Zlotoff. Running time: 111 minutes. MPAA rating: PG-13. At Cinema 140 in New Bedford.

Leaving The Spitfire Grill, I was convinced of two things: that nice girls who've done their time in prison should be given a second chance, and that Allison Elliott is going to be a major actress. I knew the first thing going in, and I would have known it even if the movie hadn't systematically drilled it into my forehead. But Alison Elliott ... well, damned if she doesn't make this otherwise trite Kleenex marathon worth seeing.

Elliott is Percy Talbot, an Appalachian ex-con who drifts into sleepy Gilead, Maine (actually sleepy Vermont). With its rolling hills, rushing waterfalls, and quirky townies who appreciate the local trees, Gilead is like Twin Peaks left out in the sun too long. As the mousy Percy steered around the disapproving stares of the natives, I knew, just knew, that she would end up a pivotal and beloved member of the community.

First, though, she takes a job waiting tables at the Spitfire Grill, a dead diner owned by no-nonsense widow Hannah (Ellen Burstyn). When Hannah got waylaid by an accident, and Percy ineptly took over as cook, I don't know how I knew that the bashful Shelby (Marcia Gay Harden), unhappily married to Hannah's bitter nephew (Will Patton), would help Percy in the kitchen and become her dearest friend. Somehow, though, I knew.

Then the wise Percy comes up with a plan to sell the Spitfire: raffle it off in an essay contest, where the entrants send $100 cash along with their reasons for wanting the diner. Soon, bags of mail and money are pouring in. I knew that; I was on a roll. But I was shocked, utterly shocked, to learn that the collected $200,000 in raffle money had vanished and that Percy would be blamed for it. I have never seen this plot development in any other movie this week.

The Spitfire Grill is a soft machine designed to open tearducts (my own eyes stayed as dry as Percy's cooking). What's more, it builds up a series of climaxes driven by revelations of cliché secrets and traumas. I'll be vague here, but I figured out the mystery man in the woods almost before I sat down. And writer-director Lee David Zlotoff unwraps a backstory for Percy that is the sheerest overkill. We like the girl, already — stop hyping her as this saintly diamond-in-the-very-rough.

Spitfire is the feature debut of Zlotoff, who created TV's "MacGyver" — this doesn't mean Percy makes gizmos out of gum wrappers, though the movie may have been better for it. Zlotoff would be nowhere without Rob Draper, whose cinematography often achieves the lyricism Zlotoff's script fumbles for. With its laconic loner striding into town and changing it forever, the film is like High Plains Drifter as an Afterschool Special.

Yet one can't fully dismiss Spitfire. Stringy-haired and drably clothed, Alison Elliott nevertheless radiates beauty; she has a wide, warming smile she rations sparingly, opting mainly for a performance of touching gravity and vulnerability. She takes this lumpy, heavy film-for-the-whole-family squarely on her slouching shoulders and carries it until the final scenes, when there are two corpses — one of which is the movie.
